Hydrobiologia

The International Journal on Limnology and Marine Sciences

Contents

Volume 403

Opinion

Cambrian animals: evolutionary curiosities or the crucible of creation?
by Geoffrey Fryer 1–11

A review of the genus Cobitis in Turkey (Pisces: Ostariophysi: Cobitidae)
by Füsun Erkakan, F. Güler Atalay-Ekmekçi & Teodor T. Nalbant 13–26

Status and phylogenetic relationships of Daphnia sarsi Daday, 1902 (Crustacea: Anomopoda) by J. C. Paggi 27–38

Redescription of Macrothrix laticornis (Jurine, 1820), and description of two new species of the M. laticornis-group by Marcelo Silva-Briano, Nguyen Quang Dieu & Henri J. Dumont 39–61

Redescription of Macrothrix tripectinata Weisig, 1934 (Anomopoda, Branchiopoda), with a discussion of some features rarely used in the systematics of the genus by Alexey A. Kotov 63–80

Deterioration in length–weight relationships of Nile perch, Lates niloticus L. in lakes Victoria, Kyoga and Nabugabo by R. Ogutu-Ohwayo 81–86

The genus Thermocyclops Kiefer, 1927 (Copepoda: Cyclopidae) in China
by Xiaoming Guo 87–95

Optimum production conditions for different high-quality marine algae by Tawfiq S. Abu-Rezq, Lamya Al-Musallam, Jaber Al-Shimmari & Peter Dias 97–107

Bacteria ingestion by Daphnia galeata in a biomanipulated reservoir: a mechanism stabilizing biomanipulation?
by Norbert Kamjunke, Angela Benndorf, Clemens Wilbert, Michael Opitz, Johannes Kranich, Manuela Bollenbach & Jürgen Benndorf 109–121

Stability and resilience in benthic macroinvertebrate assemblages. Impact of physical disturbance over twenty-five years by Patricia Bradt, Mark Urban, Nathan Goodman, Scott Bissell & Ian Spiegel 123–133

Poor water quality in Loch Leven (Scotland) in 1995 in spite of reduced phosphorus loadings since 1985: the influences of catchment management and inter-annual weather variation
by A. E. Bailey-Watts & A. Kirika 135–151

Barbels and barbel-like tentacular structures in sub-mammalian vertebrates: a review by Harold Fox 153–193

Research note

Water quality degradation at the Mai Po Marshes Nature Reserve (Hong Kong) with reference to nutrient enrichment
by S. S. S. Lau & L. M. Chu 195–203

Author Index 205